The guestbook holds the respons that people have given.
Depending on the respons other guestbooks may appear.

There is so little information about Primorial sieves on the net, or in the Math Literature I have looked through.
At least they are very hard to find. I too have found the primorial sieve myself and thus started my search.
I think yours is the second I've found that I can tell has considered a primorial sieve similar to the approach I took.
